

RoHS Compliance Declaration for Accurate Connections, Inc.

Accurate Connections, Inc. (ACI) is a custom cable manufacturer. ACI designs and fabricates both fiber optic and copper cable assemblies. ACI intends to self-certify products as RoHS compliant, based upon obtaining assurances and certifications from our suppliers that the materials and components provided are RoHS compliant. When fabricating products to be marked as RoHS compliant, ACI will use only RoHS compliant materials, components, and procedures. ACI's inventory control procedures will keep RoHS (compliance) certified materials and components, received from its suppliers, physically segregated from non-certified stock.

ACI will consider our deliverable products to be compliant or non-compliant based upon verification of certified compliant content of individual material and component elements of that product, rather than by performance of destructive testing / lab analysis of materials, component parts, finished components or assemblies to confirm specific content of RoHS restricted substances.

ACI will provide simple material declarations / statements / certifications of RoHS compliance for a product type, or for specific products, upon request.
